By Juliet Laking-Jamallera

LONDON—British Prime Minister David Cameron, yesterday visited President Aquino of the government's continued support for the Philippines' public-private partnership program (PPP) and said he looked forward to more British companies investing in the country.

Cameron visited 10 Downing Street yesterday morning. It was the last day of Mr. Aquino's three-day visit aimed at enhancing trade and economic relations between the Philippines and the United Kingdom, the third largest economy in Europe after Germany and France.

On Tuesday, Mr. Aquino met with the Philippine ambassador and told them that the removal of Renato Corona as Chief Justice of the Philippines last week signaled the restoration of accountability of public officials in the country.

Mr. Aquino laughed off rumors of closing the business circle opening about foreign investments, saying he wanted to speak from the heart, the President

Graft raps vs Mike A in helicopter scam

20 PNP execs will also undergo trial

By Leticia B. Salazar

JOSE Miguel Arroyo was hailed to court yesterday over the sale to the Philippine National Police of two of five helicopters which he allegedly bought from an American firm for the use of his wife, then President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, for her campaign in the 2004 presidential election.

The Office of the Ombudsman filed a graft charge against Arroyo in the Sandiganbayan, accusing him of selling two second-hand Raven 1 helicopters, but that were passed off as brand new.

Sen. Franklin Drilon welcomed the filing of charges, saying, "It's this long arm of the law finally catching up with Mike Arroyo, and hopefully it will catch up with Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo."

Charged with Mike Arroyo were 20 PNP officials, led by then Director General Jesus Veneno, and Hilario de Vera, president of Manila Aerospace.

Tagle joins 29 bishops backing land reform now

By Jocelyn B. Uy and Mike Morillo

MANILA Archbishop Luis Antonio Tagle has joined 29 other bishops in a petition requesting a dialogue between President Aquino and farmers demanding the completion of the agrarian reform program launched 24 years ago by his mother, the late President Corason Aquino, before it expires in 2014.

One of the petitioners who co-signed up was Celso Ayala, bishop of Palawan, president of the Catholic Bishops Conference of the Philippines (CBCP).

Venus transit a show like no other

SOME of us will likely see Venus pass, like a tiny, twinkling beauty spot, across the face of the sun again. From the United States to the Philippines, people around the world turned their attention to the daytime sky on Tuesday and early years do in Asia to make sure they caught the rare sight of the transit of Venus.

The next one won't occur for another 109 years. In the Philippines, members of the Philippine Astronomical Society (PAS) converged on the roof deck of the Manila Observatory to see their work through high-tech, filtered telescopes. The celestial show had, Edward Rosales, former PNP president, contemplating the shortness of human life and the vastness of the universe.

"By 2117, none of us who [are seeing] this will still be alive," Rosales said. "We can tell this to our children. It is not likely that they will see this as they live," he said. Edward Delillo, a 25-year-old amateur astronomer, said, "My

Pulse Asia: Majority approve of, trust P-Noy, Binay, Enrile

PRESIDENT Aquino, Vice President Jejomar Binay and Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile enjoyed majority approval and trust ratings last month, results of a survey by Pulse Asia showed.

By contrast, most Filipinos disapproved and disapproved of the performance of then Chief Justice Renato Corona.

The survey was conducted nationwide from May 20 to 26 using face-to-face interviews with 1,200 respondents.

Mr. Aquino scored an approval rating of 67 percent from 70 percent in Manila while Binay got 81 percent (80-84 percent).

Corona got a disapproval rating of 60 percent (58-59 percent).

Corona's approval rating dipped 11 points to 37 percent and the number of those undecided on his performance rose by 10 points to 21 percent.

"The double-digit decline in the approval ratings of President Aquino (-11 percentage points) ... in Metro Manila, as well as the double-digit increase in the level of indecision

THANK YOU, MAKATI TAXPAYERS

The City of Makati recently held its Top Ten Corporate Citizens for the year during the traditional reception for the business community and diplomatic corps, capping the month-long celebration of its 142nd Foundation Day on June 5.

Makati Mayor Antonio Erwin S. Binay, who led the awarding ceremony held at the Grand Ballroom of Hotel Intercontinental Manila, congratulated the awardees and thanked them for being responsible corporate citizens.

"Our celebration would not be complete if we do not acknowledge our partners in the private sector who share our vision for growth and development, and our aspirations for the people of this great city," Binay said.

The mayor said the city's Foundation Day was the opportune time to extend gratitude to the business groups, the investors, the building owners and tenants, and all those who have kept the faith and who continue to be one with the city government in developing leg for Makati.

The mayor, assisted by Acting City Administrator Marjorie A. de Veyra, awarded trophies to the awardees.

This year's Top Ten Corporate Citizens of Makati are Ayala Land, Inc.; Hyundai Asia Resources, Inc.; Hewlett-Packard Philippines Corporation; Procter & Gamble Distributing (Phil.), Inc.; Banco de Oro Unibank, Inc.-Main Office; Abbott Laboratories (Philippines); Mead Johnson Nutrition (Philippines), Inc.; HomeWorld Shopping Corp.; Rockwell Land Corporation; and GlaxoSmithKline Philippines, Inc.

Ratification of PH-Aussie pact stalled

By Michael Lim-Uric

THE SENATE approved yesterday an amended reading of the Mutual Understanding Agreement (MUA) between the Philippines and Australia, but decided to postpone until late July the chamber's final ratification.

Senator Jesse Alvaro and Wilfredo Dela Cruz last night led the charge against the pact, warning of the negative impact on the Philippine economy and the need to protect the country's interests.

Senator Loren Legarda, the chair of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, will convene a public hearing on the support of 23 of the 23 senators present on the last day of the second regular session of the 12th Congress. That meant she was still two votes short of the necessary majority of the Senate membership of 24 to ratify the agreement.

The Senate, which will also consider the bill, is still in session. The Senate President will convene the Senate on June 23, 2010, to ratify the agreement.

During the session, the Senate will also consider the bill, which concerns the Mutual Understanding Agreement between the governments of the Philippines and Australia.

The agreement was entered into by President Aquino on Dec. 23, 2009, and subsequently forwarded to the Senate for ratification.

Corona, Bong Borda, Teresita Guingona III, Antonio Trillanes IV, Edgardo Angara, Francis Pangilinan, Paolo Duterte, and Gregorio Honasan.

Moving to align with the Senate, the Senate President will convene the Senate on June 23, 2010, to ratify the agreement.

The agreement was entered into by President Aquino on Dec. 23, 2009, and subsequently forwarded to the Senate for ratification.

Corona clears SC office, mends fences with media

By Michael Lim-Uric

CORONA Chief Justice Renato Corona yesterday tried to mend fences with the media who have been hostile to his office since his appointment as Chief Justice.

Corona yesterday met briefly with the journalists covering the justice bar where he and his family—his wife Gloria and daughter, Cora—were in the Supreme Court building to clear away his papers and personal belongings.

"Thanks to you all," a smiling Corona greeted the journalists who were to see him at his old office.

"I really appreciated you in accepting my resignation," Corona said. "I was very sorry for me to accommodate you, but the circumstances would not allow me," he said.

"I am for your forgiveness. I tried my best to be accommodating," he said in a mixture of English and Filipino.

Corona gently posed with reporters who expected him to show a more somber face.

He said he was meeting a black priest who was a friend of his. He said he was a member of the group of priests who were in the Supreme Court when he had held office from 2002 to 2005.

"I'm leaving to go to a new house. I have been here for a few years," he said.

In a suggestion that he could just walk out of the building, Corona said with a laugh, "I don't have a job anymore. I will just go to my new house."

The retired Chief Justice and his family have been in the Supreme Court building since he was appointed as Chief Justice.

"I'm leaving to go to a new house. I have been here for a few years," he said.

toward presidential performance recorded among African Americans (+4.0 percentage points) fall short of being significant in light of the plus-minus 6 percentage-point margin of error in the different geographic areas,* Polster data said.

Police data used a margin of error of plus or minus 3 percentage points for national data and plus or minus 6 percentage points for regional data.

For his part, Wray got the biggest upsurge in approval of 84 percent in Mexico, Manila and Moscow last fall.

The national conference gave Gannon's performance was mirrored across geographic areas and universities, clusters with Michigan giving him the biggest discount, value of $2.7 million.

Must include:

In terms of crew ratings, Boomer is still the most trusted among top national officials. It got an overall crew rating of 76 percent (30,000 points) in Rhonda's.

Mr. Aguirre earned a trust rating of 85 percent (from 49 percent) while trade scored 61 percent (from 44 percent).

Thirty-five percent expressed distrust in Obama.

By geographical area and achievement, a cluster, a majority expressed trust in Mr. Aquino: East 37 percent to 48 percent; West 38 percent to 40 percent; and South 34 percent to 50 percent.

Resulting in the results of Pulse Asia's latest survey, Mahanagar noted that no other President in recent history had enjoyed popularity and acceptance for so long (as long as 1986) than Mr. Aquino.

"This not only helps our administration to make education growth a reality for our countrymen, and to give them a government that is truly in their service. Moving forward, our administration will remain steadfast toward fulfilling our mutual interest with the Filipino people," said Edwin Lucinda, 38, Aquino's spokesperson.

Culture of road governance

Lucinda is unfazed by the President's approval rating going down 3 percentage points.

"The Filipino people's confidence in President Aquino remains strong. In the recent Pulse Asia life tag survey, the President's nationwide performance approval rating for the second quarter of 2012 is at 67 percent while his trust rating is at 62 percent," Lacerda said at a news briefing in Manila.

"The figure, statistically unchanged from the last quarter, is indicative of public support for President Aquino's programs and initiatives, and is consistent affirmation of his efforts to establish a culture of good government in the public sector," he added.

Laurencia said that with what happened in the past few months, "it shows that the Filipino people fully support the campaign to clean up the government and to revitalize our institutions."

"We are raising the dividends of value. Our country's GDP grew by 8.1 percent in the first quarter of 2011, beating the best estimates on GDP growth for this quarter," he said.

He said government efforts to invest in villages had not gone unnoticed, noting that criticism of the President's competency agenda had significantly gone down, from 25 percent in May 2011 to just 1.5 percent in May 2012.

"We will not stop while we are ahead. The Department of Budget and Management has released $1.8 billion this month for the implementation of the President's merit-based program, which will provide for the housing requirements of thousands of infirmal workers and families living in high-risk or calamity-stricken areas," he said.

Further

Maharajah is also fine with Pacific over-riding MC. Agrees to the trust ratings and remains named as Mr. David Lee Brown.

"It does not offend us. We are happy for the members of Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile, who, by all accounts, has done a praiseworthy job of handling the Senate business and will be re-elected."

Interest in Germany was the majority sentiment across geographical areas and socioeconomic classes, with Wladimir giving him a 79 percent confidence rating.

During the survey and immediately before it was conducted, the respondent trial of Carson resumed. He took the witness stand on May 22 and May 25 to answer all questions asked him.

Palace wants Midas Marquez out

AFTER setting the course of Gulf American Steam Company, Midas Marquez is steering Gulf American Maritime Management in another range.

Marquez's only "boss" was his long-cherished ally with Casuarina.

Previously spokesperson Sidney Lovelace found that Marquez would be removed from his post because of a supposedly leaked World Bank (WIB) report that he mismanaged a $24-million WIB loan to the high-seas oiler General Williams (see page 10).

But the Defense didn't see any fault with the WIB and the Supreme Court isn't yet reviewing the expenditure of the WIB. It will take time.

In other words, love could mislead; only say Marquez mismanaged the loan when the sailing on the Williams was over and is not finished.

The Supreme Court just ruled—on Midas Marquez—don't make Midas Marquez answerable for the loan's expenditure. It may be a long time. The Palace is still at the high seas.

Supreme Court incident still has Marquez in court—his most difficult court adversary was over.

The court administration also ended complaints against Court of Appeals Justice and Midas Marquez's nomination, in a very powerful position.

Marquez, I am told, has never shared the position that comes with his position.

He is a man who has been

As the Defense says they consider him keeping the ship position.

There might be a lot less against Marquez than they charge in passenger complaints here.

I looked at Zest Air flights to Manila from a Zest Air, and was charged $19,400 in a round-trip ticket that would take it with him.

The $19,400 was charged by Zest Air for a flight to an island 23 miles offshore Manila and its return.

The $19,400 was charged by Philippine Airlines for a round-trip ticket—$9,000 to Davao City which is 1,125 miles from Manila.

I put up buying the ticket because the flight would not take a lot in Lauer City and then a long to Manila, on an island plane in Davao Island.

But then I found that the trip was a bad deal in Manila, taking hours, and so I finally decided to take $20,000 to the island and to the Manila-Manila airport.

And now there was much I was doing. I was not sure I could pay $20,000 for a round-trip flight.

After, I had more doubts about paying an additional fee for a 23-minute flight, so I postponed.

But for the third and last time I decided to take the Zest Air flight. I didn't want a long trip to land and see.

You know how much that I charged me for the round-trip ticket. Four days before it was $7.

Now, could the matter would be $19,400?

In a matter of a few days, Zest Air increased its rates to Manila by $14,000.

It was a 100% increase in the high-seas industry. I don't know what it.

The owner of Zest Air is the same owner of a company that makes the people at Zest Air wealthy.

Many years ago, Zest Air became notorious for one thing: selling its ships to people who had no money.

Members of the gang would sell Zest Air shares from playing with the stock market.

Members of the gang would think, they would be charged an enormous price.

If a passenger complained about the price—on the ship, it was 100% more of the original price—the gang would use the money to pressure the ship's management.

The passenger could not do anything but pay the price for the ship's company.

I am just wondering if the Zest Air gang's money approach—the management of the business of owning, operating, and crewing the ship—would be the same.

DTI to reel in P870B worth of investments

Different gov't agencies to engage in concerted effort to attain target

By Amy R. Nolasco

THE DEPARTMENT OF Trade and Industry aims to reel in as much as P870 billion worth of investments commitments this year as it moves to further strengthen the government's promotion activities.

Trade Undersecretary Graciel L. Paulino said the target represented the aggregate investment commitments of the different investment promotion agencies (IPAs).

The board of IPAs aims to achieve a target of P870 billion this year, while the Philippine Economic Zone Authority is looking at P220 billion.

To achieve these targets, the country's investment promotion agencies recently signed a memorandum of agreement to pursue an integrated, collaborative and harmonized investment promotion program.

Atul Panchani D. Casanova, who is currently president and chief executive officer of the state-run Bureau of Economic Development, said the agreement was signed as the new head of the Philippine Investment Promotion Plaza (PIPP) taking over his duties.

"The PIPP is a blueprint for all IPAs to synchronize strategies to promote investments in the country. The medium-term plan (from 2010 to 2014) covers image building, investment promotion and investment working designed to build up the country's brand image."

The Asian Development Bank is urging Asian governments, as well as experts and investors, to aim for a low-carbon future and help reduce what it calls the "energy poverty" in the region by financing and developing technology for clean energy projects.

The Manila-based lender last year issued a record $2.1 billion in renewable energy and energy efficiency projects, but ADB president Francisco Botero admitted that the institution's resources could not match those that could be supplied by the private sector.

"As a development bank, ADB can help shape the enabling environment for clean energy and create the incentives for faster investment on a larger scale. But we are also very much aware of the limitations of our support," Botero said, attending delegates at the opening of the 7th Asia Clean Energy Forum (ACEF) yesterday.

"We have issued a record number of projects with the resources of the private sector, which reached $70 billion in clean energy in Asia-Pacific last year. That is why we

"The PIPP has been successful in putting the country as one of the major investment destinations in the global arena. This plan harmonizes our marketing efforts and focuses on... investment promotion strategies," Paulino explained.

The investment promotion efforts of the PIPP will be coordinated to maximize the use of the country's marketing resources. In the meantime, a focused promotion approach will be carried out to deliver the institutional business community of the investment opportunities in the country for good.

The PIPP has already signed to implement its investment promotion program, which includes the information system, and develop common investment promotion collateral.

They also agreed to coordinate and provide support in handling the data and information of common investment promotion activities.

The implementation of this agreement will be carried out by the PIPP, Botero said. The PIPP is a blueprint for all IPAs to synchronize strategies to promote investments in the country.

Also, the PIPP Technical Working Group under Casanova will develop and produce common investment promotion collateral as well as craft the marketing for an investment promotion strategy.

She specializes in Finnish cuisine—
but loves fusion cooking

WHEN SHE'S cooking in front of the television cameras, Chef Sari-Li Paavola is all serious business. In "New from Fusion Cooking" and "Winter Days" shows which she co-hosts and which she aired on the main Food Channel, she's very hands-on, doing the chopping and mixing herself, to make sure you see her just delicious but also very delicate. Still, even in the demonstration the proper methods of preparing a dish, there's a glimpse of the chef's charm, underlying the personality of the host.

Raisins—why they're good for baking, cooking and plain snacking

They sweeten, color and extend the shelf life of baked goods—on top of being fat- and cholesterol-free

By Yungie Bago-Reyes

DESSERTS: Healthy, delicious, easily available.

Now, how can you go wrong with raisins?

Yes, that sweet, tiny, sticky dark bits provide flavor, texture and color to a wide variety of dishes. Or, since it is, they also make for a nutritious and filling snack.

Paavola makes baked goods so much better. They add a touch of moisture to breads, muffins, cookies, cakes, pies, tarts, yeast doughs and whole-grain cereals.

Is Sarangani Bay the Winter Wonderland of Asia?

Using an amount of 11,000 tons of ice a year to preserve the freshness of the frozen harvest, Sarangani Bay could easily be the ice capital of the country. To ensure freshness, Sarangani Bay has built the largest farm-to-market facility in the country. Immediately beside its fish farm harvest, the fish is processed, then frozen. They shipped here and around the world and in guaranteed fresh. Don't we? Renungan? Sarangani Bay Is a Place.

Forbidden pleasures

LEFT: R212 I did start a "babe on the loose" when I auditioned my lead appearance in "Forbidden Pleasures" as a couple of workaholic types — heweees. I had run up and ran with the rest of the cast. But I happened to slip "babe" in. When we now look up for my original entrance.

The production crew was really happy. They said I brought a lot of energy to the show. I was the only one who didn't come from a background in the show. I was the only one who didn't come from a background in the show. I was the only one who didn't come from a background in the show.

Legion in NYC

It was more unexpected... "Forbidden Pleasures" is kind of a legend in New York City. It has a special atmosphere and a lot of energy. I was the only one who didn't come from a background in the show. I was the only one who didn't come from a background in the show. I was the only one who didn't come from a background in the show.

production and construction teams add to the show's emotional appeal by strongly looking to their respective families, and workers around the clock to give them their unparallelled moment of pure joy at the end of the program when their new schools are dramatically unveiled.

and personal lives are exchanged, first among the regular members of the family, then with visitors and his crew, who look in the gratitude of the recipients of the results of their hard work, and sympathetic criticism.

Conclusions

Overreliance
True, some viewers do find that too emotionally manipulative for their taste, but we don't say that most members of the TV audience will regard the book, emotional reaction as a method response, given the serious underpinning of the typical depressed Filipino family in the

In any case, the donor's gift to his recipient family is worth a lot of money on the net, reflecting responses to justification, even if some aspects of it may be thought to be excessive. Even if most of the expenses are treated as "wasteful," the price of the permanent gift is still substantial, as the recipients' gratitude is difficult to ignore.

It's also true that the show's outright gift of a new home may reflect some tension at "Ink's reality" place that may make other reality viewers wish for the same good fortune to happen to them. Instead of working hard to eventually achieve it through their own re-
